

Coming Soon! Wolff Bros. Supply is excited to announce the upcoming launch of our newly designed website.

We're working hard to provide a faster, easier to navigate and more user-friendly experience for our customers and partners.

WHY redesign the website?

- To improve the user experience – faster, easier and more intuitive
- To create a more modern design with a refreshed look and feel
- To enhance the Product Information Management (PIM) system that feeds all of our product data

WHAT can be expected?

- Simplified and more intuitive navigation and overall experience
- Improved Search and Filter
- Improved mobile experience including mobile scan function
- Enhanced Product Data which will provide:
 - Improved general content and product descriptions
 - Enriched product images
 - Quicker access to product spec sheets
 - Increased user customization
 - Greater integration with other systems
- No loss of functionality (still do everything you do today)
- Wolffnet Account Customers need to enter a new password when first logging in to the new website (information to come)
- Wolffnet Account Customer's favorites and lists will carry over to the new website, however any items in the shopping cart may be lost at the time of transition

More details will be communicated soon, including available training options. Please contact your Sales Representative or email Support@WolffBros.com with any questions.

Thank you!

Wolff Bros. Supply, Inc.

